The Hero of Bunker Hill. BY JAMES PARTON.

It is still a little unestiain who was s command of the American troops at r that little was does by Colonel Prescott or by General Putnam. But there is no doubt that the favorite here of the day was, and le, Joseph Warren, who had the strange destiny to be thirteen years a Boston physician, then three days a major-general, and three hours a soldier in the ranks. He was in truth a piy.

On the great day of Lexington three in the ol the cause to which he gave bis life. As the Seventeenth of June npproaches, passers-by read with renewed

Another Inscripilea testifies that Doctor John Warren, a distinguished physician, and brother of the general, ras also born in the same "mansion." The writer of the latter inscription used a very inappropriate word when he called the modest abode of the Warrens a mansion. agreed, was that a button of a brighter hie Should be used, and of a different material. The connection then renjembered that some twenty years before he had seen a button of this kind in the shop of Mr. Quincy Trifts, that quaint old fashioned dealer who was never known to be "out" of any article which had ever been in his stock. Six Mr. Gilbert went to Mr. Tuff's shop—and a queer little place it was, se every old-time flootinian knows—and instead of asking his friend, the preprietor, for what he wanted trusted to his membry to locate it. Putting his hand on an upper shell in the band-box of a shop, he took from under a pilz of cluths a jackage which actually contained the very buttons he was in want of. There they had laid for year open year waiting some possible purchases; and perhaps if Juhn Filbert had not sought them out they would have remained there till the shop ranished, with its owner, from the sight et man. To step into this shop was to leave the busy, busiling world bekind, and be anung the relics of the past. Meiville Garden, Downer Landing.

We take pleasure in calling the attention of the renders of the leazerte to the advertisement of Melville Garden, the most delightful pichic resolt in New England, as it combines the beauties of the sea must the woods. There is in the garden the timest dancing hall on the New England coast, and Edimands' famous orchestra furnish nursle, this being its eighteenth season at the garden. At no place can n more satisfactory and abundant clambake dinner be obtained, or one sa pleasingly served. Thousands visit the place every year and the one great evidence of its popularity is, that church, temperance, inilitary and other societies go there year after year in preference to any other place. On Wednesday the Luiversalist society of Weynouth will enloy a picuic there. Parties driving to the garden will find superior accommodations for their teams in the commodions stables. The flying hurses and the swings anuse the children, and the bowling on take Walton or among the islands of the harbor is delightful, and the bowling alleys are always an attraction. The mankeys in the grove across Crow Point bridge are a source of great anusement to the little ones, and the bears near the monkey cage are an interesting currissity. To those who have never been to Melville Garden we say, don't fall to go there this summer. Those who have never been to Melville Garden we say, don't fall to go there this summer. Those who have been there, will go again and often. Every Sunday there is a due roncert forenson and afternoon by a first class full brass band.

The Monatiquet branch of the C. L. S. C. of Weymouth and Hraintree held the last meeting of this year in the parlor of the Union church, Friday evening, June 28. There were fifty members and friends present, and notwit listanting the discouraging remarks of President Hyde at the opening, the entertainment proved exceedingly pleasant and interesting. The programme was varied, consisting of speeches, reritations and noisical selections, both yocal and instrumental. Rev. Mr. Ellsworth, of North Braintree, whose subject was "I see and objects of the C. L. S. C.," spoke hu his isaal happy vein on such necasions. Rev. S. J. Axtell, our forner president, fortunately for us, arrived home in season to be present with us, and gave one of his pithy and concise five-minute speeches. And we had a bird, a bolio-link, who sang a poem for us, and after a persistent encore gave a second. Dur bird is ralled Miss Hattle Harris. Miss Annie Lond and Mr. John H. Ginterson favored us with ducts on the piano, and Miss Angie tiulterson and Mrs. Jennie Worster "discoursed sweet yocal music. Then followed something for the "inner man," which finished the programme.

E. 1. H., Sec. Hats, Caps and Gent's Furnishings, in our Spring arnouncement it gives us pleasure to say that we can give to our enstoners better goods, better prices, and better satisfaction everyway, than it has ever been our privilego before. EAST WEYMOUTH.

ENGLISH CASTILE SOAP, CHAMOIS and SPONGES, The Huil Street Railway.

President Shaw informs us that work on the street railway at the beach will be commenced mext full, the line being about live miles in length, from Nantasket Pier to Black Rock House, on Jetusalem road, and from the pier to Point Allerton. The power to be used has not yet been determined, but it is probable that horses will be used until chertrical projects at the shore are definitely arranged.

The use of small steam motors utached to the cars is also being considered, as one method of propulsion.

The regatta of the Hull Yacht Ulub ast Saturday was a pretty exhibition of pantical skill, and among the prettist of the flyers was Capt, Hunt's Posy, Capl, Joshna Binney being sailmaster, the yacht outsailing the contestants in her class, and adding another notch to and class, and aming another notely to her score of victories. The Posy lass need the whiter in every regatta where the has been entered this season, and as wen quite a substantial sum of coney, in addition to the elegant silver up bestowed by the Durchester Plub, and which was received by Capt. A new cleampion appeared among the twenty feet cracks in this regarda, and knocked the Snots out of the famous Mabel, which has shoul in the front rank in Boston Bay waters, Viey-Coan, E. F. Linton, of the Monatipnot Yache Club, has had a new twenty beet yacht built the past winter by Maybury, of Quincy, with a windward eye to the outfooding of the Mabel, and the result of the first appearance of the new Atala, in the regatta Saturday was a triumph over the former champton, the six fulles course for the fifth class being accomplished by the Adala in 30 seconds less time than that of the Mabel. The Adala is a beauty, and with a belter breeze than that of Saturday, she will show great qualities in speed.

Fort Point.

The cottages at Fort Point and Rose Hill are now occupied by owners and tenants for the summer, but the Bowen House is still closed, with an prospect of its being opened this season. Parties from South Weymonth and the Landing are sojourning in the cottages of Mr. B. J. Loring, of Braintree, and others are camping out at the Point. Bose Hill cottagers are present in full force at their seasabe netweats, and the place again puts on a lively aspect.

Accident.

Mr. James Lee, who is employed at the farm of Mr. theorge Harris, on Summer street, was fastening a scytle to the snaith last Monday, when the wrench slipped from the init, and one of his hands was so badly ent by the blade that Dr. Tinkham was called to attend to the injury. Base Ball.

Base Ball.

One of the finest played games of base ball ever seen here was played on the Lake street grounds last Saturday, in which the home rlub's fielding was clean and slarp, also batting hard through the entire game.

In the first inning it, Slattery teck his base on lads and stole second, Dyer and Green relicate with bits, Dennis' scring; sharp helling by the usitors presented the home term from scring again until the tenrit, when Conters, Cullen and Dowers each knocked out singles, Connets scroing, D. Slattery ten hat the ball over the right field fone i.r.a home ran, clearing the bases. This was enough to ruin the game but they clinched it in the mith with three rate runs, one of them arrest. The Blues scored one in the fourth on hits by Cassidy napping on sectord; ten in the seventh on three base bits by Cassidy and O'Hara, and Dyer's error. Political.

The Hostou Herabl mates the aspect of political affairs in various towns, and says of Weymouth that "It is an undisputed fact that Uol, Henj, S. Lovell has the most influence earth the present administration of any indicidnal in the Old Bay state. This and the past honors attained by the genial colonel in tiebls political would seem to be glory enough to satiate an ordinary political separatt, but it is breadly hinted that the popular "gunmaker of Weymouth" has a weather eye out for the councillor position in the 2d district. Mr. James H. Flint, who as secretary of the Y. M. Republican League, put in some herentean work for the G. O. P. during the last campaign, is also an important factor in not only local, but state politics, and will yet be heard from. Representative Louis A. Electrical.

The work of stringing thn wires for the electric lights is going on all over town, and additional poles have been erected at the several squares for the placing of the lights over the centre of the highway at those points. The work on the plant insiding is ledge pushed with vigor, and but a few weeks will elapse before the hun of the dynamo will be heard in our land, and the subtla entrent shed an electric daylight upon our plackened ways. Major John W. Hart is forwarding malters with energy and has determined that Weymouth of shall have an electric service equal to the less in city or country, at as moderate darlif as the rost of the service will adult, and a threalar has been issued to the residents of the town, stating that Mr. Hurr, a practical electrical engineer, will wait boon our proppe at an early date, for the purpose of assertaining the number of lights required by each, and the hest method of wiring the same, and will give all the necessary information regarding the lights. As the plant is drawing near completion, the company would be pleased to have as namy houses wired us possible, that the early subseribers may receive the full hencit at the opening.

Meiville Gardon, Downer Landing.

We take pleasure in calling the nateration of the readers of the GAZETTE to the advertisement of Melville Ginriden, the most delightful picnic resort in New England, as it combines the heauths of the sea and the woods. There is in the garden the linest dancing hall on the New England coast, and Edmands' famous orchestra furnish moisle, this being its eighteenth season at the garden. At no place can a more satisfactory and abundant clambake dinner he obtained, or one so pleasingly served. Thousands visit the place every year and the one great evidence of its popularity is, that church, temperance, utilitary and other societies go there year after year in preference to any other place. On Wedinesday the Fulversalist society of Weymouth will enjoy a piente there. Parties driving to the garden will thul superior uccentimendations for their teams in the commodions stables. The flying latrses and the swings amuse the children; the boating on lake Walton or among the islands of the harbor is delightful, and the bowling alleys are always an attraction. The nonkeys in the grave across Crow Point bridge are a source of great amusement to the little ones, and the hearts near the monkey cage are an interesting curiosity. To those who have never been to Melville Garden will guagain and often. Every Sunday there is a line concert foretonen and ufferment by a first class full brass band. Chiefs Call. FEARLESS CUSTER

C. L. S. C.

The Monatiquot branch of the C. L. S. C. of Weymouth and Braintree held the last meeting of this year in the parlor of the Union clarred, Friday evening, June 28. There were fifty members and friends present, and notwithstanding the discouraging remarks of President Hyde at the opening, the entertainment proved exceedingly pleasant and interesting. The programme was varied, consisting of speeches, recitations and musical selections, both vocal and instrumental. Rev. Mr. Ellsworth, of North Hraintree, whose subject was "I see and objects of the U. L. S. C.," spoke in his asnal happy vein on such occasions. Rev. S. J. Axtell, aur former president, fortunately for us, arrived home in season to be present with us, and gave one of his pithy and concise livesnimite speeches. And we had a bird, a holico-link, who sang a poem for us, and after a persistent encore gave a second. Our lard is called Miss flattic Hurris. Miss Andie Lead and Mr. John II. Gatterson favored us with dusts on the piane, and Miss Angie Guiterson and Mrs. Jennie Worster 'discoursed sweet vocal music. Then followed something for the 'inner man,' which linished the pregramme.

The Hull Street Railway.

President Shaw informs us that work on the street railway at the heach will be commenced next fall, the lime being about tive miles in bength, from Nautasket Pier to Black Hock House, on Jerusalem road, and from the pier to Paint Allerton. The pawer to be used has not yet been determined, but it is probable that horses will be used until probable that horses will be used until electrical projects at the shore are delinitely arranged.

The use of small steam motors attached to the cars is also being considered, as one method of propulsion. The regatta of the Hull Yacht Chile ast Saturday was a pretty exhibition of nautical skill, and among the prettiest of the flyers was Capt, Hunt's Pesy, Capt, Joshua Binney being sailmaster, he yacht outsailing the contestants in er class, and adding another much to her score of victories. The Posy has heen the winner in every regatta where she has been entered this season, and has won quite a substantial sum of money, in addition to the elegant silver cup hestowed by the Dorchester Club, and which was received by Capt. Hunt last week.

A new champion appeared among the twenty test cracks in this regatts, and knocked the spots out of the framous Mabel, which has stood in the front rank in Boston Bay waters. Vice-Con. E. F. Linton, of the Monatignot Yach. Club, has had a new twenty feet yacht built the past winter by Mayhary, of Quiney, with a windward eye to the outfooting of the Mabel, and the result of the first appearance of the new ATALA in the regatts Saurday was a triumph over the former champion, the six miles course for the fifth class being accomplished by the Atala in 30 seronds less time than that of the Mahel. The Atala is a tenanty, and with a better breeze than that of Saturday, she will show great qualities in speed. Zenas Loring and Mrs. J. T. The following original hymn, written by liev. Mr. Hockwood for the 30th anniversary, was sing to the true of "Auld Lang Syne."

This long that we have met, Glee Club,
And time hath kindly been
To leave us but the pleasant thought,
Of all that we have seen.
What joyous hours we've passed, Glee Club,
We know no better low.
Thus that which so knits hearts in one,

That fifty years can prove.
This long that we have met, Glee Club,
And thoughtfully we trace
Sweet, unlorgotten lineaments,

And thoughttuty we trace
Sweet, unlorgotten therameuts,
No absence can efface.
It may be many a line, Glee Club,
Is added to each brow,
Itot we do tondly find in each,
Our childhood's playtoates now.
Tis long that we have met, Glee Club,
And many a start that shone
While we've been travelling on the road
To brighter worlds have gone.
And we who watched their rise, Glee Club,
And saw them in their set,
Survive to ponder o'er the past,
And fondly to regret.
Tis long that we have met, Glee Club,
And longer may it be;
In singing sweet our spirit clings
In fellowship with thee.
The 'scattered wide our social chois,
The world can ever break

Our sharp sighted police officer, Michael Alleu, made a big find last Saturday evealing while going his usual rounds, with all the dignity attaching to the gosition of a special officer of the law. To tell the rinth, Mike thought he saw a dog's muzzle just alread of him and picked it up for examination. It certainly had all the material necessary to construct a first-class muzzle, but the shape was a little mite off. Things were somewhat in doubt when Col. Dondaro, who does business in close proximity to a dry goods store, decided that it was a bustle of the latest design, and, strange as it may seem, the husband of the lady who lost it came along and the goods were delivered in a sound condition, thanks to the vigilance of Officer Allen, who has meye out at all times to sidewalk distructions.

General Orders No. 8.

This Post having accepted the courieous Invitation of Collingwood Post 76, to attend the celebration of the empletion of the National Monament to the Ptilgrims at Plymouth, Mass, on Thursday the 1st of Angual next, the Iollowing details are published for the information and guidance of members of Post 38.

Comrades on the line of the South Shore road will take a special train leaving Weymouth Landing at 7,07; North Weymouth at 7,31; and East Weymouth at 7,20, on the morning of the 1st.

The South Weymouth comrades still take an express train at 3.28 and will arrive at Plymouth a few minutes later than the detachments on the South Shore roule.

Fares for the round trip for members of the (1, 4, 8, only, from Weymouth inetty-seven (97c.); East Weymouth ninety-five (95c.) and from South Weymouth ninety-five (95c.) and from South Weymouth seventy-seven (77c.).

The fickets will be sold at the Landing by Q. M. Sergeard C. R. Trot, xt. North Weymouth by Q. Onicer of the Hay Havid Dunian; at Fast Weymouth by the Post Commander, and at South Weymouth Band will report at the Headquarters of the Post by 6,45 a. m. and excert the Colors to the station.

The couralles of the different villages should be

Post by 6.45 a. m. and escort the Colors to the station.

The countailes of the different villages should be punctual at the stations, reporting at least I wenty minutes before the arrival of the train, in order to procure their tickets.

The Post will form mrar the Plymouth depot as a battalion of four companies with the same officers and positions in culum as were assigned on last Hemorial Day.

The Commander trusts that every contrade will appear at his best on this occasion. Distinguished citizens, (vill and military, from all sections of the Nation, we helped to save, will review the marching column, and every soldier should conduct himself at though he alone were bearing the honot and fame of the Republic.

Harpar's for August. Herpar's for August.

Three arlists join in the principal poetical contribution to Harrer's Manazine for August—Austin Dobson, who writes a prologue and eploque and Edwin A. Abbey and Allred Iarsons, who evoke the spiril and intent of them in twelve drawings. The two poems pelong to "The Quiet Life" which is said to be the title of a fuffictoming book, to be published by Mesars. Hatper & Hothers. Wells Champney reviews the remarkable evolution of the "art," from its beginnings under Daguetre up to the present period of its magical advances. That Madame Tussaud once had a rival in West-ninster Abbey will be to many a surprise that will lead them to read John Lillie's interesting illustrated paper on the "Westunister Effigies." James Lane Allen writes on "County Court Day in Kentucky," and Louisa Patr upon "The Fan." Hoth articles are richly illustrated. V. H. Addis tells of a discovery which she made in Mexico, and Wm. C. Prime explains its value to ceramic art.

Comer's Commercial College, 660 Washington St., Boston, whose adver-tisement will be found elsewhere, is the oldest and most successful lusiness training school in America. The 49th annual catalogue will be sent to any addres, if applied for, free of charge, willow hampers. I'rices are surprising-Reminiscence.

Another sketch of Quiney Tufts, of Wrytmonth, is given by the noted "Taverner," of the Boston Post, whose articles under lead of "Here in Boston," are most interesting and valuable; the sketch portraying features of the furer Weymonth resident's store in Bosion to the letter, in its old time special. s. He says that Quitey Tutts, as I remember, were a large Madran neckloth or scard which was tied in a bow and the ends of which extended across the lapels of his black coat. Naturally his shop was a favorite place to buy Madran neckwear, which he unconstionally advertised by his use of it, and he also kept a supply of grasscloth handkerchiefs, an article which he had especially imported for him.

Another specially of Quincy Tufts was bandanna handkerchiefs, which were also a favorite article of apparel for old-time Bostonians, especially those who used smilf and patronized Tirace Danlap's quaint establishment in Theatre alley. A trend who acknowledges to within a decade of three score and ten tells me flat when a boy his labler sent him to make a purchase at Quincy Tufts's shop, and that he was avividly impressed with the accuracy of the old man's nemory as well as with his father's reliance on it. That father was about going West, and among other provisions for what was then a serious and protracted joining contemplated the purchase of half a dozen red bandanna handker-fleids. "I used to get them twenty years ago of Quincy Tufts," he said to his son, "for a hollar ajuece, and I have no doubt he has them still at the same price." This confident expectation proved correct. When the boy mentioned the facts to Quincy Tufts the old gentleman said: "Why, I shows how much can be accomplished by the shrewd investment of profits from a small business taken in connection with economical habits of living. Usincy Tults spent very little un uinselt, and I do not know whether bla I as sisters, where were quaint looking little people, a good deal like himself, were dependent upon him for support. In those days it was by small accumulations and very moderate exit was by small accumulations and very moderate expenditures, judged by the standard of teday, that what then passed for handsome properties were aniassed. But Quincy Tufts was not wholly absorbed in material gains. He had a regard also for spiritual things, and was a tegolar attendant at the old brick church in Federal street when it was graced by the eloquence of Dr. Channing. When the old church was torp down he took a pew in the Arlingian Street Church, then enjoying the ministrations of his uld pastor, Channing's successor, Dr. Gannett.

Mr. Tufts some years before his death manifested his interest in affairs of his native town by farnishing an advertise ient of his ancient wares for publication in the GAZETTE, "In help the pa-per along," as he shired, and the "red bandama" was the prominent feature of the ad.

Mr. Edward Anderson has taken the cafe at Fort Point, and parties who wish a day's onting at this pleasant resort can be accommodated with headquarters there and also furnished with shore dinners and other refreshments. See Card in adv. columns.
